SIX STUDENTS NAMED AS NDSCS HOMECOMING ROYALTY FINALISTS

WAHPETON – Six second-year students comprise the Homecoming royalty court at the North Dakota State College of Science in Wahpeton.

The finalists for king and queen were chosen Wednesday by a preliminary vote. NDSCS students will vote for the school's Homecoming king and queen next Wednesday, and Homecoming Coronation is scheduled next Thursday, Oct. 7, at 8 p.m. in the Stern Cultural Center on the NDSCS campus.

The finalists for queen are:

- Sherry Greenstein of Jamestown, a Medical Administrative Assistant student sponsored by the DECA chapter;
- Danielle Martin of Bismarck, a Liberal Arts student sponsored by Auto Technology Club and Recreational Engines Club; and
- Jennifer Ramesbothom of Burlington, a Dental Hygiene student sponsored by the Dental Club and the Diesel Club.

The finalists for king are:

- Brandon Carlson of Oakes, a Diesel Technology student sponsored by the Diesel Club and the Dental Club;
- Sam Gietzen of Mandan, an Architectural Drafting and Estimating Technology student sponsored by the Architectural Drafting Club and the Music Department; and
- Bruce Steele of Twin City, Ga., a Criminal Justice student sponsored by the football and volleyball teams.

NDSCS is a two-year, comprehensive, residential college in Wahpeton. The State College of Science offers degrees, certificates and diplomas in over 80 academic options in traditional career and technical studies and in the liberal arts. Approximately 97 percent of graduates from its technical programs find jobs in their chosen fields.

Unlike most two-year colleges, NDSCS offers a university atmosphere for its students, complete with residence halls, 35 affiliated clubs and organizations, music groups, theater productions, intercollegiate athletics, intramural athletics and numerous social activities.

NDSCS celebrated its centennial last year. The college opened in 1903 as the North Dakota Academy of Science.
